“ Opal pieced some beautiful quilt tops which I was fortunate to quilt and bind for her. I knew she loved to give them as gifts to her family. A quilter seems to be able to take a little and make something that can warm you when you're cold. Provide the feeling of comforting arms around you when wrapping it across your shoulders during sickness, loneliness, and or worry. She put a caring love into every piece of cloth she sewed into those quilts. How lucky the family must feel to know she will be with you in just one of the ways that made her so special to her family and friends.
